Reference Letter for Vira Makodzeba

To whom it may concern,

I am pleased to recommend Vira Makodzeba, who worked with Prox as an AI Content Creator intern from June to August 2026. Prox is a San Francisco startup backed by Y Combinator (F25) that builds AI product specialists for manufacturers of complex equipment.

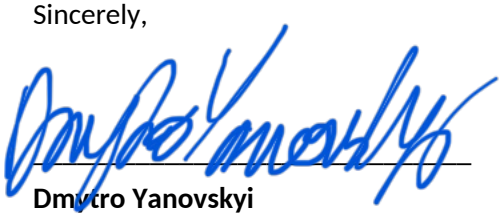
During her internship, Vira created visual content for our brand almost every day. Working from short briefs, she generated AI images and illustrations, produced animated videos and short clips, and prepared ready-to-publish visuals for our social media and marketing. She worked confidently with tools such as Higgsfield, ChatGPT, Claude and Gemini.

A key part of her work was bringing our brand mascot to life across the industries we serve — for example, showing the mascot driving a forklift for a warehouse-equipment client. Her visuals helped us present Prox in a way that felt relevant and memorable to each audience.

Vira works independently, learns new tools quickly and takes ownership of what she makes. She brings real taste and attention to detail, and she consistently delivered on time.

I am confident she will be a motivated and thoughtful student, and I recommend her without reservation.

Sincerely,



Dmytro Yanovskyi
Co-founder & CEO, Prox Technologies Inc.
